

Scott Fennell

scott@sinvertical.com | <http://sinvertical.com>
<https://github.com/scottfennell/> | 303-378-0139

.about

Scott Fennell is an expert web developer with proficiency at all levels of the web development stack with a focus on Javascript applications utilizing AngularJS.

.expertise

Frontend - AngularJS, Angular (2+), Node.js, Sass, Less, npm, Gulp, Webpack, Dash-Mpeg, Android

Backend - PHP, Java, Spring, Hibernate, Maven, Ant, MySQL MongoDB

Systems - AWS APIs, S3, EC2, ActiveMQ, Ubuntu, CentOS, bash, Git, Heroku, Elasticache, Kibana, Logstash

.history

Charter Communications 2015 to Present | Sr. Software Engineer

Angular Developer working on streaming portal web application with millions of unique users.

- Part of a cross functional team to troubleshoot complex customer issues.
- Help develop and troubleshoot CI system in Gitlab to help speed parallel development
- Architected video player test harness application to allow comparison of different dash video players.

T3Media 2014 to Present | Software Engineer

Full stack development in several different projects and languages. Primarily working in Java, Node.js and AngularJS

- Built and maintained a Node.js tool to monitor automated transcoding systems and help prevent outages.
- Built an asynchronous transcode utility to extract data from large files stored in S3.

TrackVia 2011 to 2014 | Software Engineer

Started at TrackVia maintaining and adding features to an existing Perl codebase. Helped usher a transition and complete ground up rewrite and expansion of software.

- Lead a nearly seamless transition of entire environment with several 100+GB databases from an existing colocated environment to AWS with minimal downtime.
- Developed POC Android Application

Metropolitan State College of Denver | Bachelors of Science - Computer Science